

Long Awaited Bibles for Myanmar

15,000 Bibles are needed for the Phadei Chin people group

The Phadei people are poor and their education is poor. There wasn't anyone of them qualified to do the Bible translation until 1993. Reverend Cong Sum started the translation but had challenges with his partnering mission group and had to finish it on his own, which took him until 2010.

But the Phadei people had no way to print these Bibles. They asked Wycliffe translators if they could find funds to print the Bibles for them. Wycliffe printed very few for them, in low quality and they were thick and heavy. In addition, Wycliffe made people pay for the Bibles, so most of the poor people could not afford them. So until now they still don't have Scriptures.

Presently, all digital files have been destroyed so there is no easy way to produce more Bibles, except to scan one of the few existing copies. With your support, we can raise the money needed to provide Bibles to the Phadei Chin people group that they have been waiting for.

We plan to raise the funds through a match appeal, for a total goal of $100,000. This would consist of a $50,000 seed fund, as well as $50,000 of raised funds through Bible League Canada's mass, mid-level, and major donors primarily through a direct mail and online campaign.

We have had great success in the past with a match appeal for projects in Myanmar, and we believe our donors will respond to this project appeal.

The news about Jesus spread throughout every village in the entire region.

Luke 4:37 (NLT)

Your seed fund gift will encourage our broader donor base to become donor champions, too. Match appeals result in double the response rate, and a 50% increase in average donation.

Your gift will go further by inspiring others to do more!
